

International Imaging Industry Association

January 11, 2010

Tessera Ships One Millionth OptiML Lens

Staff Writer

Tessera Technologies, Inc. announced that it has shipped more than one million OptiML single-element VGA lenses via its Product Launch Services. The company introduced these services in September 2008 to provide licensees and their customers with early access to its wafer-level optics technology while licensees ramp up their high-volume manufacturing.

<http://www.i3a.org/2010/01/12/tessera-ships-one-millionth-optiml-lens/>